If you're living with pediatric multiple sclerosis, it's normal to have questions. We have a space where you can come for answers.

Join this free program to learn and connect with other kids, teens and young adults who know what you're going through. Bring your family or anyone else who's cheering you on, too!

Each program features experts who are ready to share what they know about pediatric MS and answer your questions. You'll also get to chat with other attendees who are navigating their own MS journeys.
