Dear Parent/Guardian,

We are writing because your child has an appointment scheduled in the Atopic Dermatitis Center at Boston Children's Hospital.

During your visit, your child may see two or three providers. You will meet with a pediatric nurse practitioner and a pediatric allergist, as well as a pediatric psychologist. You may also meet with a pediatric nutritionist and a pediatric dermatologist. Our comprehensive treatment focuses on all aspects of atopic dermatitis and food allergies, including: education, resources for coping and support, nutrition recommendations, and the effect of the disorder on the family. The psychologist helps children and families cope with common problems related to atopic dermatitis such as itching and scratching, sleep problems, and challenges with the treatment routine. The nutritionist monitors nutrient intake and growth, provides education on food allergy management, and helps families meal planning.

Please note that each provider will bill separately. You will need to call your insurance company before your child's first visit to the Atopic Dermatitis Center, to find out whether these visits will be covered by your insurance plans. Additionally, if your insurance requires a co-pay, each provider is treated as a separate visit and will be a separate co-pay. All plans are different, and some need a prior authorization or a referral from your primary care provider to meet with a specialist. Visits with Dr. LeBovidge will be billed through your mental health benefits. If you meet with the psychologist or nutritionist and your insurance does not cover your visit, you will be responsible for the bill of the visit.

Please use the following NPI numbers to obtain an insurance referral or authorization from your child's primary care:
